Dear Mayor McAlister and Cary Town Council,

As President of the New Hill Community Association, I must say that the New Hill residents expected to hear what they heard tonight. We appreciate the support several Council Members displayed on our behalf. We will continue to pursue all avenues possible with highest the levels of professionalism.

That said, I need to express our utmost disappointment with the way Ms. Jennifer Robinson so unprofessionally represented herself tonight. As a retired IBM Senior Project Manager, I completely understand how tough business decisions need to be made. But to publicly scold New Hill citizens that are emotionally involved in this action is reprehensible. Any elected public figure that displays such unprofessional behavior should be reprimanded. We may be a small rural community, but we deserve respect as Wake County citizens. Any points Ms. Robinson made were completely negated by her remarks. I might note that the incident was recorded by several news media.
